

PARENTS

It Takes a City: DC Does it Best!

Saturday, May 2, 2015, 9:00AM – 3:30PM

Walter E. Washington Convention Center, Washington, DC
(Green and Yellow Metro Lines)

Parent and Family Engagement Workshops:

- Strategies to stay engaged in your child's education
- Using digital learning principles to engage youth
- Making the most of your family's out of school time
- The effect of parent engagement on educational trajectories
- Reclaiming parental engagement in urban schools
- Engaging students learning English
- Preparing students with special needs for further education, employment and independent living
- Homework and study skills for students with ADHD
- Working with visually impaired students

About DCITAC:

It Takes a City is the District of Columbia Office of the State Superintendent of Education's final LEA Institute of the 2014-15 school year. The two-day event is designed to reflect on high-quality and innovative best practices in public education. School staff will learn new teaching strategies while parents and families will learn new strategies for supporting their child in preparing for college and careers.

For more information, call 202-724-7878 or email Valrie Brown

Register at <http://osse.dc.gov/node/1032812>

Lunch will be served