Section I: Funding Opportunity Description

The Office of Contracting and Procurement, on behalf of the District of Columbia Office of the State Superintendent of Education (OSSE) seeks a contractor to provide quality Career Technical Education (CTE) construction training programs to adult residents of the District of Columbia. Pursuant to legislation passed by the Council of the District of Columbia this program must be provided at Phelps Senior High School. The goal of this project is to provide technical education in construction that leads to industry-recognized certifications for construction-related fields and full-time employment for 30 District of Columbia residents.

The Office of the State Superintendent of Education (OSSE) seeks an industry-based company to provide construction trades job training to District residents beginning immediately with a completion date no later than September 30, 2012. In addition, this company must be currently managing a large-scale construction project within the District of Columbia capable of employing full-time 30 District of Columbia residents once the job training program is complete. This employment can either be directly or through a subcontractor. Said company must also demonstrate a track record of meeting or exceeding the 51 percent goal of hiring local residents to work on past projects.

Based on the short timeline for completion and the need to place participants in full-time employment post-program, OSSE is seeking an established construction company with an existing construction project located within the District of Columbia. This project must be large-scale with a variety of labor needs throughout the duration of the project. In addition this company must be committed to hiring, either directly or through a subcontractor, all participants who successfully complete the training no later than two-weeks after completion. The ideal construction project will have at least 100 construction-related jobs associated with it and the company must have a track record of meeting or exceeding 51 percent of local hiring requirements on previous projects. This will ensure that the District residents who are trained through this job training program will be provided full-time employment upon completion.

In addition, this company must have a developed work plan and curriculum for training District residents and must have instructors in place to begin work immediately. This requirement is based on the short turnaround time of the project and the need to have the program fully implemented prior to the close of the 2012 fiscal year.

This program must be implemented between May 2012 and September 2012.

These services will be provided to District residents who possess, at a minimum, a high school diploma or GED.

OSSE requires an industry-based company capable of providing construction-related job training for District residents. In addition, this company must be committed to hiring District residents who complete the training. Qualified organizations must be able to provide the following:

- A fully developed curriculum providing construction-related training;
- A written commitment to provide full-time employment to participants who complete the program. Completion of the program is defined as meeting attendance requirements, passing of random drug testing, and completing all aspects of the training and receiving certification;
- Current construction projects within the District of Columbia capable of employing trained participants immediately upon completion of the program;
- A detailed list of instructors and their relevant experience and certifications;
- The ability to provide drug testing at least twice during the training period;
- The ability to provide participants with weekly stipends during the training period;
- A written narrative that demonstrates the company's ability to implement this program in full no later than September 30, 2012;
- A demonstrated track record of meeting or exceeding 51 percent of local hiring requirements on previous projects; and
- Information on any existing construction projects located within the District of Columbia that are funded partly or in full by the District of Columbia.

OSSE will make only one award under this funding opportunity. An organization may apply alone or as part of a partnership.

Section II: Award Information

OSSE intends to only award one (1) grant for this program for a maximum of $350,000. This award will cover May 2012 through September 2012. The selected organization must be able to provide all aspects of this program and expend all funds before September 30, 2012.

Section III: Eligibility Information

Eligible organizations are those who are based in the District of Columbia, are members of the construction industry either directly or through an existing partnership and who are able to begin training immediately.

Qualified organizations must meet the following criteria:

- A fully developed curriculum providing construction-related training;
- A written commitment to provide full-time employment to participants who complete the program. Completion of the program is defined as meeting attendance requirements, passing of random drug testing, and completing all aspects of the training and receiving certification;

- Current construction projects within the District of Columbia capable of employing trained participants immediately upon completion of the program;
- A detailed list of instructors and their relevant experience and certifications;
- The ability to provide drug testing at least twice during the training period;
- The ability to provide participants with weekly stipends during the training period;
- A written narrative that demonstrates the company's ability to implement this program in full no later than September 30, 2012;
- A demonstrated track record of meeting or exceeding 51 percent of local hiring requirements on previous projects; and
- Information on any existing construction projects located within the District of Columbia that are funded partly or in full by the District of Columbia.
