Productivity

Productivity

What is productivity?

“Intentional teachers use their knowledge, judgment, and experience to organize meaningful learning experiences for children.”

- Ann S. Epstein, National Association for the Education of Young Children, 2015

Did you know 85 percent of brain development happens before age five?

Productivity

What does it measure?

Productivity

A blue-tinted photograph of a classroom scene. A female teacher with long dark hair is sitting on the floor, smiling and reading a book to a group of young children. The children are also sitting on the floor, looking at the teacher. In the background, there are shelves with books and a bulletin board with various drawings and papers. The overall atmosphere is warm and educational.

How do you balance the push for increased academic skills with developmentally appropriate practice?

Did we accomplish everything?

1. Discuss productivity from birth to five.
2. Discuss the alignment of Classroom Assessment Scoring System™ (CLASS™), Infant/Toddler Environment Rating Scale-Revised (ITERS-R), and Family Child Care Environment Rating Scale-Revised (FCCERS-R) with productivity.
3. Discuss typical developmentally appropriate practices as it relates to productivity and teacher-child interactions.
4. Brainstorm strategies to help teachers become more productive at all times.
