

OSSE Scholars Partner Institutions

College Name	Summer Program(s) to which OSSE Scholars are eligible to apply
--------------	---

Brown University	Summer@Brown
Columbia University	Summer Immersion
Duke University	Pre-College Program
Emory University	Pre-College Program
Harvard University	Secondary School Program
Northwestern University	IN FOCUS Seminars or Credit Courses
Smith College	Summer Pre-College
Stanford University	High School Summer Session
Syracuse University	Summer College
University of Chicago	Immersion
Yale University	Young Global Scholars or Yale Summer Session

Please note:

- All program links are current as of the launch date for the OSSE Scholars current year application.
- If a link is broken, search the college website for the summer program title.
- Most summer college programs do not update their websites with current year information until winter or early spring. During the OSSE Scholars' application cycle, it is normal for last summer's information to be shown.
- You can research the college itself for your essay and interview if it is a school you are interested in but no information is available for summer yet. Remember that your essay is not just about your answer but an opportunity -- to showcase your writing skills, your interests and, in this case, your resourcefulness to learn about these selective programs!

OSSE Scholars are expected to attend on-campus programs

