Building on the success of Bard Early College, the Bard Sequence dual enrollment program offers a meaningful bridge between high school and college in which a young person's first exposure to higher education is rigorous and intellectually inspiring while also providing them with the support they need to become confident, self-motivated college students.

1 Tuition Free

Through Bard Sequence, students save an average of $20,000 and 12 college credits, earning a semester's worth of college credits — absolutely free!

2 Student-Centered Classes

Small, seminar-style classes gives students the opportunity to voice their opinions through writing and discussion and gain important college skills through a culturally-engaging curriculum across the liberal arts and sciences.

3 Trained College Faculty

Sequence faculty typically have a terminal degree in their field and are trained in Bard's signature early college pedagogy, developed over two decades across Bard's network of early colleges.

4 Transferability

Sequence students receive a transcript from Bard College and can transfer their Bard credits widely and easily, thanks to Bard's growing number of articulation agreements and partnerships with institutions of higher education across the country.

5 The Bard Network

Students enrolled in Bard Sequence courses are part of the Bard College Network, an international, multi-campus network of Bard College, a top-tier, independent, non-profit liberal arts college with a strong public interest mission and a commitment to equity and innovation.

FALL 2022: VIRTUAL COLLEGE COURSE OFFERINGS

Division of Language and Literature

Writing and Composition (3 CREDITS)

Writing is a crucial skill in any major and field, before and during college and beyond. This course seeks to provide students with an introduction to composition in a variety of different forms, chief among them the academic or argumentative essay and the personal essay (including the college essay). Throughout three different writing “progressions,” students will familiarize themselves not just with the mechanics of constructing a strong piece of prose, but the process of editing and refining their writing, both on their own and with the help of their peers. For each progression, students will be graded on their completion of steps throughout the writing process, their participation in class discussions and activities, and their creation of a final, polished essay.

Division of Sciences, Mathematics, and Computing

Social Psychology (3 CREDITS)

Social Psychology is the study of human behavior, emotion, and thinking in the social contexts such as families, relationships, friends, as well as broader social systems. In this course students will learn about many of the ways in which we are influenced by these social systems, and how these effects are created. Some of the questions we will explore include:

- * How does the situation we are in impact our behavior, thinking, and emotional processes?
- * When do people go out of their way to help each other?
- * Where do stereotypes and biases come from?
- * What makes someone kind? Aggressive? Empathic?
