 The data reported above is based on staff members who currently meet the minimum education requirements based on the December 2022 (for center directors) and December 2023 (all other positions) deadlines. These numbers and percentages do not include individuals covered by a 10-year continuous service or general waiver, as described below.*

There are several supports and resources available to current and prospective early childhood educators to ensure they meet the new education requirements. Early childhood educators who require assistance developing an individualized plan or are unsure of how to get started, may contact the ECE Help Desk for support at ECEhelpdesk@dc.gov or (202) 478-5903. Support is available in various languages.

Child development facilities that employ early childhood educators who are still pursuing their education or otherwise do not fully meet the requirements by the deadline for their position may apply for a general waiver on behalf of the employee. Child development facilities that employ early childhood educators who have continuously served in the same (or comparable) role/position for the past 10 years (since December 2006 or earlier) without a significant gap in service may apply for a 10-year continuous service waiver on behalf of the employee. The 10 years of continuous service do not need to be in the same facility that is applying for the waiver. Waivers must be completed and submitted by the center director of the facility where the early childhood educator is employed. Waivers are processed on a case-by-case basis and are not guaranteed.
