

NCLB Report Cards

Presentation to the State Board of Education

April 21, 2010

Liz Cohen, Office of the Chief of Staff

Office of the State Superintendent of Education
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
MAYOR ADRIAN M. FENTY

Highlights

- New Partnership between OSSE, Great Schools and Fight for Children will:
  - increase publicly available information, including report cards, and
  - provide more support to parents accessing information.

Office of the State Superintendent of Education

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
MAYOR ADRIAN M. FENTY

- Leading provider of K-12 school information for parents in the United States
  - Reach 37 million unique visitors (1/3 of American families)
  - Help parents throughout DC in both English and Spanish
  - Multi-pronged program focused on Wards 1, 7, and 8
-

- Recognizes, promotes, & cultivates quality education for DC's low-income children.
- In 20 years, raised over $82 million for programs serving low-income children.
- Publishes, with Great Schools, the DC School Chooser

Required Categories of Report Cards

- Student achievement in aggregate
- Student achievement disaggregated by race, ethnicity, gender, disability status, migrant status, English proficiency, and status as economically disadvantaged
- A comparison of student achievement to DC's Annual Measurable Objectives (Below Basic, Basic, Proficient, and Advanced)
- Percent of students tested disaggregated
- Other academic indicators disaggregated (attendance & grad rate)
- Two year achievement trends
- List of schools with school improvement status levels
- Highly qualified teacher data
- Student achievement on the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP)

Current Project Plan

Phase 1

SY2008-2009 Report Cards

- April 7: OSSE previews design with SBOE
- April 8: OSSE informs GS as to design selection
- April 21: SBOE meeting on report cards
- April 28: SBOE hearing on report cards
- May 19: SBOE vote on report cards
- May 21: Report cards go live on GS website

Phase 2

SY2009-2010 Report Cards

- Summer 2010: Get input from SBOE
- Summer 2010: OSSE works with GS on improved design options
- Summer 2010: SBOE reviews updated design options
- September 2010: Report cards go live on GS website

